History of Hinatuan Water District

Our Historical Background

The Hinatuan Water District, a government owned controlled corporation, was created through the provision of the Presidential Decree No. 198 known as the “Provincial Water Utilities Act of 1973”. On its Title II referred as the Local Water District Law, Chapter II Section 6 in the source of authorization and power to form and maintain a district on which for the purpose of the said act. A district shall be considered as a quasi-public corporation performing public service and supplying public wants. Then, it further states that form a district, the legislative body of any city, municipality or province shall enact a resolution containing the name of the local water district which shall include the name of the city, municipality, or province, or region thereof, served by system, followed by the words “Water District”.

On September 6, 1980, the Hinatuan Water District (HWD) was organized by virtue of resolution no. 517 enacted by the Sangguniang Bayan of the Municipality of Hinatuan. After complying with the LWUA’s minimum requirements, the conditional certificate of conformance was awarded to HWD. November 6, 1980. The certificate entitles the District to all the rights and privileges authorized under PD No. 198. The municipal government transferred the ownership and management of the whole existing water supply system to Hinatuan Water District.
